The Bayerisches Staatstheater am Gärtnerplatz was opened on November 4, 1865 as the "Actien-Volkstheater" in Munich and is considered a "folk opera" with an obligation to the light muse.

About the project

The building was reopened in October 2017 following a general restoration.
As part of the restoration, we supplied very high-quality doors and door systems, which generally had to meet listed building requirements in combination with other requirements. We also used roman arched doors and doors in escape and rescue routes.
