Year: 2019

Brand: joro

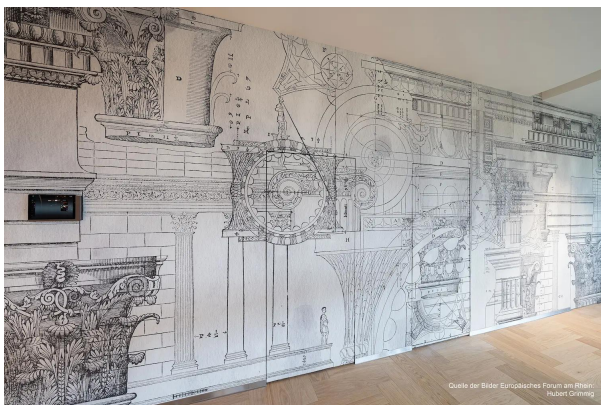

The project involved equipping an office and congress building with 50 special door elements that were individually fitted to the requirements of the property.

About the project

A particular highlight was custom-made products such as the joro Noframe frame, which was seamlessly integrated into the wall design. These casings were wallpapered over with a motif wallpaper, creating an almost invisible transition between the door and the wall and ensuring a harmonious, modern design.

The combination of technical precision and aesthetic perfection made this project an impressive examples of innovative solutions in door construction.
